Schedule: The bus will leave from Denver at 6 a.m. from First Plymouth Congregational in Englewood on Thursday, June 9—First Plymouth has graciously agreed to let passengers leave their cars at the church during the meeting. The bus will stop in Grand Junction to pick up any passengers, and arrive in Salt Lake City before 4 p.m. in time for Thursday night's reception. Then, at 10:30 a.m. on Sunday, June 12 after our final worship, it will do the reverse. Why drive when you can relax comfortably instead while enjoying beautiful views? Speaking of comfort...

Amenities: TVs, bathrooms, comfy upholstered bucket seats, footrests, outlets, window shades, armrests, and WiFi are all included.

Cost: Passengers from Denver can ride round-trip for $100; those boarding in Grand Junction will pay only $75. Once you save your seat, just send your payment into the Conference Office:

Rocky Mountain Conference
1140 W. 5th Ave
Denver CO 80204

Environmental Impact: By riding the bus, we'll practice what we preach and be stewards of the Earth.

The Experience: Most importantly, it will be fun! Director of Communications Ministries, Cory Kibler, will be on board with snacks, games, and activities. There's another twist as well: A few of our board members have paid for a seat on the bus, so your bus ride could be free. Winners will be chosen at random.
